

Scholarship and Financial Aid Data Dictionary for 2014

General Description

The information collected is for both private and public scholarships, grants, and awards. This represents over three thousand sponsors providing over eighteen thousand programs totaling over seven billion dollars for students seeking higher education. Also included are scholarships offered directly from individual colleges and universities for the purpose of providing financial aid. Data is collected by Wintergreen Orchard House for publications and websites widely used by students, parents, counselors, and librarians. This database is structured to provide search and selection of awards based on various criteria such as student's academic level, athletic or artistic talent, special interest, community service, club member ship, financial need, parental memberships, and other criteria as determined by sponsors for each award. Programs and award amounts may or may not be consistently funded year over year and are subject to change throughout the year.
